

DIRECTIONS

This game can be played by any number of players among whom the cards are equally distributed. The first player selects and reads one card omitting name of bird and family.

The player at the left of the reader tries to name the bird from description given; if he fails, then the next tries, and so on until it is guessed correctly; the one so doing receiving the card.

The one to the left of the first reader then proceeds to read a card in like manner, and so on till all are guessed. The one guessing the greatest number of cards wins the game. For playing with young children, the Family name may also be read.

Also played as Authors.

Our Bird friends
Sarah H. Dudley (Pub)
Berlin Mass

OUR BIRD FRIENDS -1910
Sarah H.. Dudley Berlin Mass.

Directions:

This game can be played by any number of players among whom the cards are equally distributed. The first player selects and reads one card omitting name of bird and family.

The player at the left of the reader tries to name the bird from description given; if he fails, then the next tries and so on until it is guessed correctly; the one so doing receiving the card.

The one to the left of the first reader then proceeds to read a card in like manner, and so on till all are guessed. The one guessing the greatest number of cards wins the game. For playing with young children, the Family name may also to read.

Another very easy way, suitable to young players, is to call by the letters on the cards in the same manner as Authors, and making books of four each, the one having the largest number of books winning the game.