

GAME OF POCAHONTAS.

RULES OF THE GAME.

Shuffle the cards well, then deal three to each player, one at a time. The player on the left of the dealer opens the game by playing any card but a brave or a soldier; the next player must match it; if he can not he loses his turn, and the next player must try to match it. When matched, then a brave must be played, after which a soldier; the one playing the soldier wins that trick. If it should happen at any time that no one can play, then the player who first refused must draw the top card from the pack; if he can not then play, the next player must draw, and so on until some one can play. Whenever a player runs out of cards he must take the three top ones from the pack. After a trick is taken, the next player can then play any card as before described, and so on. If at any time a player has no card to lead but a brave or a soldier, he loses his turn. After the pack has been run through, the one having taken the most tricks wins the game.
