

RULES FOR PLAYING
"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

This Game consists of twenty cards, divided into four sections. The characters and objects are taken from "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

- First Section. — Consists of Uncle Tom, Tom's Cabin, George's Dollar, Aunt Chloe's Biscuit, and George's Bible.
- Second Section. — Simeon the Quaker, Simeon's Apples, Rachel, Rachel's Chair, Simeon's Hat.
- Third Section. — St. Clair, Eva, Topsy, Eva's Flowers, and Ophelia's Basket.
- Fourth Section. — George, Eliza, Harry, George's Hand, and North Star.

The Game can be played by three or more persons. Either one of the players may shuffle the cards, then holding them so that the face cannot be seen, let each person draw one card from the pack, and so continue to draw, till Uncle Tom is drawn out. The person having Uncle Tom may begin the game by shuffling the cards, and then divide the cards equally between the players, each one holding his cards so that the other players cannot see the face of them. The dealer then commences by calling from his right-hand neighbor for any card which he has not in his own hand. If his neighbor has it, he must give it up. He continues to call for others, and if he calls for one his neighbor has not in his hand, his neighbor then takes his turn, and calls in the same manner from his right-hand neighbor. When a player has the same card in his hand, this right-hand neighbor shall call every card from the game, and may continue to call thus, pulling him out of the game, and remember to call for him the next on his right-hand.

The players must be attentive, and more complicated every card which has been called, and more complicated as the game is made longer, and more complicated as the players are more numerous. At the conclusion of the game, the player who has all the cards in his possession, which will entitle him to the privilege of dealing, and commencing the next game.
