

Directions for Playing

Chink

(Lion Coffee game premium by Woolson Spice Company)

This game is for three or more players, each for himself. Eleven is highest card. The rest rank in order to one, which is lowest.

All the cards are dealt out, one at a time, to the players.

When the deal has been completed, the player to the left of the dealer leads any card he pleases. Each player plays card to the lead, and the highest card of the suit led wins the trick. Each player must follow suit if possible; otherwise he can play any card he chooses.

The winner of the trick leads the next and so on until the eleven tricks are played.

The object of the game is to avoid taking tricks which contain a Chinaman or "Chink." The person who has taken the least number of "Chinks" wins the game.

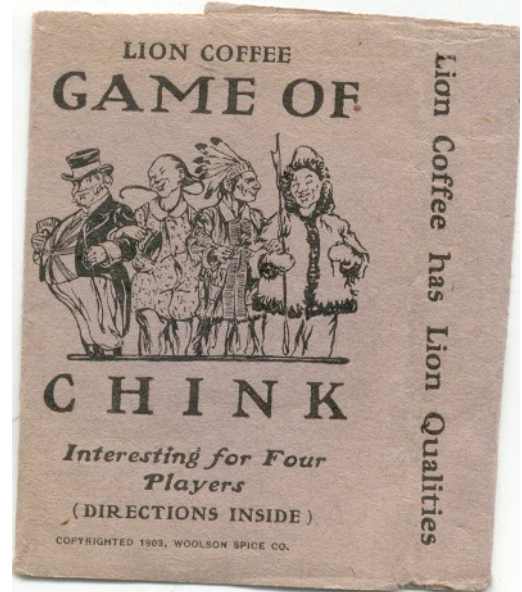

The game plays the best if four persons are playing.

Card front

Card back

Game cover

The game consists of a paper cover open at the top and bottom, a sheet of instructions the size of a game card, and 44 game cards of four "suits" numbered 1 to 11 in each suit. Each suit is printed in a different color.